

LETTER: Fines, not signs are what's needed now

Dear Editor:

In light of yet another death in Lynn Canyon, it is time that some realistic measures be taken to prevent this from happening again. The warning signs and the fences simply aren't working, and to continue on this path, expecting a change, is madness.

Either fill in the dangerous pools with boulders, or start assessing fines and arresting people.

I am amazed that the District of North Vancouver continues to willingly ignore the problem.
