Dear Editor:

The preservation of a few trees was felt to be more important. However, a subsequent wind-storm was much harder for the Parks Board to control - knocking down a couple of thousand trees! - cjk

Unfortunately, the Vancouver Board of Parks and Recreation opted for status quo years ago when it decided to stay with a three-lane Lions Gate Bridge for at least the next 30 years.

Can anyone believe (there is) a three-lane bridge in Canada's third-largest "world class" city?! What a joke.

Not in our lifetime will we see a third crossing connecting the North Shore to Vancouver.
