Search the North Shore   Search

LETTER: Proposed building nice but not for the waterfront

North Shore News
October 21, 2015 12:00 AM

An artist's rendering of Seaspan's new North Vancouver head office at the foot of Pemberton Avenue. image supplied

Dear Editor:

Your latest news on the Seaspan office permit on the waterfront raised my concern (Oct. 14 news story (http://Dear Editor: Your latest news on the Seaspan office permit on the waterfront raised my concern (Oct. 14 news story). It seems that universally, in most of the world, there is a push to keep waterfronts, whether along the river or sea, available to (the) public for common enjoyment. I have been in many cities in the U.S. and Europe where this is happening. Old warehouses and buildings are being slowly replaced by parks, walkways and bike lanes. Yet here, (the) District of North Vancouver allowed a rather big building to be placed right by the seashore. I believe this building should be offset by a certain distance from shore. It is a nice looking building, but is just too close to the water. Bish Siemiatkowski North Vancouver)).

It seems that universally, in most of the world, there is a push to keep waterfronts, whether along the river or sea, available to (the) public for common enjoyment. I have been in many cities in the U.S. and Europe where this is happening. Old warehouses and buildings are being slowly replaced by parks, walkways and bike lanes.

Yet here, (the) District of North Vancouver allowed a rather big building to be placed right by the seashore. I believe this building should be offset by a certain distance from shore. It is a nice looking building, but is just too close to the water.

Bish Siemiatkowski
North Vancouver

What are your thoughts? Send us a letter via email by clicking here (http://www.nsnews.com/opinion/send-us-a-letter) or post a comment below.

© 2015 North Shore News

Sign up for the North Shore News FREE digital newsletter to receive top headlines from each issue in your Inbox. (http://www.nsnews.com/newsletter/subscribe)