Last chance to tell GVRD to keep water supply under public control.
On Oct. 12, at the meeting of the GVRD Water Committee, the public will finally get a chance to find out what happened at a secret Sept. 07 meeting between Ottawa trade officials and Water Committee chairperson Marvin Hunt. The closed meeting was organized by the Canadian branch of the US National Council for Public Private Partnerships, which represents the American corporations that want to build and operate a privatized water filtration plant for the Seymour reservoir.

***After the meeting, Committee chairperson Hunt told reporters the GVRD might reverse a June decision to not privatize the filtration plant.

This could be your last opportunity to tell Marvin Hunt, George Puil, Don Bell and the GVRD that you do not want to lose control of our public water supply.
