Good Day,

Am I the only one that read, and reacted, to the story in the National Post last weekend of Jean Chretien's predecessor, and himself, refusing to post warnings in 1990, that children playgrounds are being exposed to Arsenic which is leaching into the ground from preserved (treated) lumber?

Our current Prime Minister may have poisoned the "political" waters around Richmond, B.C., by his accepting a Canadian Alliance MP into his back bench ranks, but the fact that the Prime Minister has not taken steps during his repeated terms of Office to post a warning, needs to be questioned.

Best Wishes,

Dave Gosse
